Section–A (Reading)

(20 Marks)

1. Read the following passage carefully : (10)

An Encounter

1. It took us about twenty minutes to reach the ruin, which was probably an old hunting lodge put up by a Rajput when game was plentiful.
2. The gate of the lodge was blocked with rubble, but part of the wall had fallen in, and we climbed through the gap and found ourselves in a stone-paved courtyard in the centre of which stood a dry, disused fountain. A small peepal tree was growing from cracks in the floor of the fountain. We crossed the courtyard to the main structure, and then Daljit stopped and asked : “Do you smell something, Rusty ?”
3. “Yes,” I said. “Curry.”

This was the last thing we expected to find. It meant the ruin was inhabited. “Hello! Anybody home ?” we called aloud but no one responded. The tempting smell of the curry directed us to a little enclosure where hot lunch awaited us. “Halt!” a glaring voice warned us. We looked around but could not see a soul. A sterner “Halt” warned again. “Who is it ?” “I am the ghost of the ruin. I am hungry. This is my food and no one shall eat it.”

4. Daljit gave me a horrible look and shouted, “Rusty, run...” and he ran away. I was so dumbstruck that I could not move an inch. Being alone in the company of the ghost, I trembled with fear. “Run away. Didn’t you hear ?”, the invisible ghost reprimanded. Mustering up the little courage I had, I confronted it. “No, I will not leave till you show up. I must see you.” My command elicited footsteps behind my back and I turned instantly. “Amit ?” “You man Rusty! Let us enjoy the curry while I give you the ghost story.” Amit told me that he had overheard our plan to explore the ruin and planned this prank to scare us. It was partially successful.
5. After enjoying the sumptuous curry, Amit and I went back to the hostel. At dinner table, a guilty Daljit kept avoiding me for having left me alone with the ghost. And I, well, I had the last laugh.

1. Answer the following questions :

- (a) Why did Daljit stop at the main structure ? (1)
- (b) How did the boys come to know that the ruin was inhabited ? (1)
- (c) Why was the narrator dumbstruck ? (2)
- (d) What made the narrator tremble with fear ? (1)
- (e) What was partially successful ? (1)
- (f) What happened at the dinner table ? (2)
- (g) Find the antonyms of the following words from the passage : (2)
  - (i) unappetizing (paragraph 3)
  - (ii) completely (para 4)

2. Read the poem given below carefully. Then fill in the blanks that follow with one/two words each : (1×5=5)

NATURAL

It just comes naturally to me,

I confess.

Writing a verse

Is like taking my next breath.

Pick any theme,

I'll devour it whole

Choose any topic

I'll tremble your soul.

Taunted by adjectives,
Haunted by verbs.
Visions of wisdom'
Quotations and slurs.
Similes, metaphors,
Pain and regret,
All of those things
Dance around in my head.
Feather and ink,
And I am ready to go.
Capture a moment
Of life with a flow.

Fill in the blanks

The poet has a (a) _____ to express himself in rhyming form. For him writing a (b) _____ is like taking a (c) _____. Various feelings dance around in his (d) _____. He loves to (e) _____ a moment of life with a flow.

3. Read the following passage carefully : (5)

THINK, OR ELSE THAT TONGUE WILL BRING TROUBLE

1. Have you ever gotten angry with someone over what they had said ? Have you ever yourself felt the regret of saying something you later realise you should not have ? We all have been in such situations. Words carry a lot of power. They cannot be touched but they can be felt, that too very deeply. More than how a person looks or walks, her/his personality is shaped up by what she/he says. Is it not the tongue then, the most important organ of the body ?

2. Reckless words can do damage to an unknown extent. They can bring down a person and subject her/him to humiliation and ridicule. They can wage wars, break families and even lead to self-destruction. On the other hand, well thought out expression attracts admiration and trust. Take the comparison often done between the former US President Barack Obama and the present US President Donald Trump. Obama's intelligence and appeal reflected in his well-crafted words while Donald Trump, despite being an acclaimed businessman continues to be criticised for the verbal excess which accompanies his presumptuous mannerisms.
3. The only difference between the two is the ability to assess the impact of one's words. It applies to the Prime Minister of India as well, whose grip on words, far outweighs any of his contemporaries. From interviews for jobs to negotiating peace amidst wars, words decide people's futures.

Answer the following questions :

(1×5=5)

- (a) What makes tongue the most important organ of the body ?
- (b) How do reckless words affect a person ?
- (c) What should be done in order to attract admiration and trust ?
- (d) According to the passage who has the ability to assess the impact of one's words ?
- (d) Which quality of Prime Minister of India far outweighs any of his contemporaries ?

1. Read the passage given below and answer the questions briefly : (10)

ENVIRONMENTAL EFFECTS OF GLOBAL WARMING

An environmental effect of global warming is the fact that higher temperatures will lead to a change in the water cycle. Some places may experience more rain. Warmer temperatures will cause a greater amount of evaporation from lakes, rivers and oceans. In some areas this could be good and in others it could be considered bad. In Northern regions of the United States, an increase in the temperature and amount of rain could actually extend the growing season of crops. This would in turn mean more money for farmers in the northern region. It could also hurt some farmers. Too much rain is bad for some crops. Certain areas will actually get less rains, which would lead to more droughts and have a negative impact on crops. Warm and wet weather is usually a factor that promotes tropical storms. Global warming would lead to tropical storms, appearing with great frequency. More rain will also force plant life to adjust. Forests and plant life migrate naturally, but scientists say that global warming would cause them to migrate at a much faster rate. The Environmental Media Services Organisation has found that greenhouse effect could drive global temperatures up as much as 6 degrees by the year 2100 – an increase in heat comparable to the 10 degree warming that ended the last ice age. Global warming will not just make sea levels rise, it will also affect northward or southward because the waters are warmer. The warm water would make them think that they were in their natural habitat, when they were actually migrating toward the poles. Food would be scarce in their new habitat.

- A.1. Complete the statements given below : (1×6=6)

- (a) The change in water cycle is due to _____.

NATURE

Walking through the woods,

I heard a voice

On hunting back, I was surprised

Poachers were approaching to kill animals

For their skin

Trees were being cut and birds being killed

On returning home, I thought and thought

How beautiful mother nature is !
The dawn breaks, the cock crows
Glistening sun rays enter the door
Trees flush and sway gently
Fill one's heart with memories of love and beauty
But a different thing is happening today,
Man is threatening the earth's existence,
If this generation destroys nature this way
What will remain on the earth after a few more days ?

Complete the summary given below : (1×5=5)

Once the poet was walking through (a) _____ and he heard a voice so when he turned he was surprised as the (b) _____ were approaching. The trees were being cut and birds killed. 3. Read the passage and answer carefully : (5)

When I go into a stranger's library I wander round the bookshelves to learn what sort of a person the stranger is, and when he comes in I feel that I know the key to his mind and the range of his interests. A house without books is characterless house, no matter how rich the Persian rugs and how elegant the settees and the ornaments are. The Persian rugs only tell you whether a person has got money. But the books tell you whether he has got a mind as well. It is not the question of money that we do not buy books. I repeat that books are the cheapest as well as the best part of the equipment of house. You can begin your library with the expenditure of couple of shillings. Nearly all the best literature in the world is at your command at two shillings a volume. For five pounds you can get a library of fifty books. Even if you do not read them yourself, they are a priceless investment for your children. What delight is there, like the revelation of books, the sudden impact of a master spirit, the sense of window flung wide open to the universe. It is the adventures of mind, the joy of which does not pass away, that gives the adventure of life itself beauty and fragrance.

Complete the lines given below :

(1×5=5)

- (a) A stranger's library helps to _____.
- (b) A house becomes characterless _____.
- (c) The Persian rug only tells _____.
- (d) The books are priceless _____.
- (d) One can set up a library with _____.

Section–A (Reading)

(20 Marks)

1. Read the following passage carefully : 10

LEARN TO SAY 'NO' GRACEFULLY

1. It is easy to say 'yes' to every request on your time, when the priorities of your life are unclear. When your days are not guided by a rich and inspiring vision for your future, a clear image of an end result that will help you act more intentionally, it is not hard for the agendas of those around you to dictate your actions. The solution is to be clear about your life's highest objectives and then learn to say 'no' with grace. The Chinese sage Chuang – tzu told the story of a man who forged swords for a Maharaja. Even at the age of ninety, his work was carried out with exceptional precision and ability. No matter how rushed he was, he never made even the slightest slip. One day, the Maharaja asked the old man, "Is this a natural talent or is there some special technique that you use to create your remarkable results ?" "It is concentration on the essentials," replied the sword-crafter. "I took to forging swords when I was twenty-one years old. I did not care about anything else."
2. The most effective people concentrate on their "areas of excellence," i.e. on the thing they do the best and on those high – impact activities that will advance their life–work. In being so consumed by the important things, they find it easy to say 'no' to their less-than-worthy distractions that clamour for their attention. Michael Jordan, the best basketball player in the game's history, did not negotiate his contracts, design his uniforms and prepare his travel schedules. He focused his time and energies on what he did best : playing basketball and delegated everything else to his handlers. Jazz great Louis Armstrong did not spend his time selling tickets to his shows and setting up chairs for the audience. He concentrated on his point of brilliance : playing the trumpet. Learning to say 'no' to the non-essentials will give you more time to devote to the things that have the power to truly improve the way you live.

(Excerpt from 'Who Will Cry When You Die' by Robin Sharma)

1.1 On the basis of your reading of the above passage, answer the following questions : [8×1=8]

- (a) What happens when the priorities of our life are not clear ?
- (b) For how long had the old man been working as a sword crafter ?
- (c) When can others dictate our actions ?
- (d) The old man said that it was 'concentrating on the essentials' which helped him to achieve excellent results. What does he mean by that ?
- (e) Why do the most effective people find it easy to say 'no' ?
- (f) Who was Michael Jordan ?

Listen to The Sound of The River and You Will Get a Trout

(by Dr. Charles Roper)

I Listen to the trees, and they say :

“Stand tall and yield and be flexible.

Stand alone, and stand together.”

I Listen to the wind, and it says :

“Breathe. Take care of yourself-

Body, mind, and spirit.”

I Listen to the sun, and it says :

“Nurture others. Spread happiness.

Be aglow. Retreat when it is time.”

I Listen to the creek, and it says :

“Relax; go with the flow.

Lighten up, laugh, giggle.”

I Listen to the mountains, and they say :

“Be there. Be honest.

Be trustworthy. Don't cheat.”

I Listen to the clouds, and they say :

“Be creative. Be expressive.”

I Listen to the sky, and it says :

“Open up. Let go off the boundaries and Barriers.”

On the basis of reading of the poem complete the summary of the poem by filling in the blanks with appropriate word / words : 1×5=5

The poet listens to the trees, the wind (a) _____, the creek, the mountains, the clouds and the sky. The trees tell him that he must always be confident and try to be successful whether he is alone or in a group. They teach him to be (b) _____ and to accept changes in his life. He listens to the wind and learns to be calm. He learns from the sun to nurture others, spread (c) _____ and to (d) _____ for a while, if the situation demands. He learns from the creek to be relaxed at times and not to take everything seriously. The mountains teach him to be honest and trustworthy while the clouds teach him to be (e) _____ and creative. The sky inspires him to challenge himself, cross all barriers and to set new goals.

3. Read the following passage : 5

- I. Abraham Lincoln was an American statesman and lawyer, who served as the 16th President of America. His father was a shoemaker. Some egoistic people were very much offended that a shoe maker's son had become the President. They were aristocratic, who believed it was their birthright to be in the highest government post. On the first day, when Lincoln started his inaugural address, a man stood up and told Mr. Lincoln, "You should not forget that your father used to make shoes for my family", and the whole senate laughed. Lincoln looked at the man and said patiently, "Sir, I know this fact and there will be many others here who know this, because the way he made shoes, nobody else can. He was a creator. His shoes were not just shoes but he poured his whole soul into it. Any complaint ? Nobody has ever complained about my father's shoes. Believe it, he was a genius, a great creator and I am proud of my father.
- II. The whole senate was dumb struck. He had made shoe making an art, a creativity and he was proud of the creativity. Even though, he was the President of America, he was ready to make a pair of shoes, if there were any complaints. Looking at the silly man, Lincoln insisted, “Now you have to speak, why have you become dumb ? Just minutes before you wanted to make a fool out of me but look all around, you have made a fool of yourself.”

On the basis of your reading of the above passage, answer the following questions : [1×5=5]

- (a) Who was Abraham Lincoln ?
- (b) Why was Abraham Lincoln proud of his father ?
- (c) Why were some people offended when Abraham Lincoln became the president ?
- (d) Why were the senate members dumb struck ?
- (e) What had the silly man done to himself ?

1. Read the following passage carefully : (10)

MAKE A DIFFERENCE

1. A gentleman was repeatedly picking up starfish along a beach in Mexico. He was throwing them into the sea. When asked why he was doing so he said, “I am throwing these starfish back into the ocean because they came in with the high tide and now the tide has receded, they will die here, stranded.
2. “But there must be thousands on every beach. You can’t possibly make a difference” asked the other man. The man smiled, lifted yet another starfish and as he threw it back into the sea, said, “made a difference to that one.”
3. The story shows that it is not the big things only that really count in life. In fact all great people built their character by doing small day-to-day good actions. Mahatma Gandhiji, once was standing in the open compartment door of a speeding train. He was lost in his thoughts when one of his ‘chappals’ slipped from one of his feet and fell down. The moment he realized it was gone, he dropped the other one too.
4. On being asked why he did so, he replied, “One chappal is of no use to me, nor to him who finds the dropped one. So he might as well have the full pair.” This incident shows that nothing was too insignificant for Gandhiji.
5. Believe firmly that even one person can change the entire world. He may not be able to do a whole lot physically to change the world, but that person has the power to inspire and set an example for others which may affect the outcome of any situation.

THE QUIET LIFE

Happy the man whose wish and care

A few paternal acres bound.

Content to breathe his native air

In his own ground.

Whose herds with milk, whose fields with bread,

Whose flocks supply him with attire;

Whose trees in summer yield him shade,

In winter fire:

Blest; who can unconcernedly find

Hours, days and years, slide soft away

In health of body, peace of mind.

Quiet by day:

Sound sleep by night; study and ease

Together mixt, sweet recreation

And innocence which most does please with meditation.

Thus let me live, unseen unknown

Thus unlamented let me die,

Steal from the world, and not a stone

Tell where I lie.

– Alexander Pope

3. Read the following passage carefully : (5)

1. As parents we strive hard to give our children the best of everything. We ensure to give them all possible comforts, facilities, pleasure and exposure so that they can have a wonderful life. But the most important thing parents forget to provide their children is 'self-worth'. If your child doesn't love himself, he will not have the ability to give love. If he keeps on demanding himself, he might become successful but will never feel powerful. Give your child the gift of self worth and his life will be a rocking affair.

2. Introspect, who do you think you are ? Creative or dull ? Intelligent or good for nothing ? Isn't it a fact that what you believe you are, is something that your parents labelled you as ? The label you give to your child is the ultimate truth of his life. Your child will identify himself by not what he feels he is, but by what label you have given him. Tell your child he is an achiever, and he'll be. Tell him he is a loser, and he loses all the battles of his life.
3. Every child is unique. Each child has his own set of qualities, so there is no question of comparison. Your love will nurture his self-worth in every moment of his life.
4. Do you remember how you felt when you were last appreciated ? How good it made you feel about yourself ? The same applies for children. Appreciate your child whenever you see him doing something right. Create opportunities to boost his self-esteem. Enrol him to recreation of his choice and praise him on his progress and do not wait till he does it perfectly.
5. Express your love for your child. Let him know how much joy he has brought in your life. Hug him, spend time with him; do little things to make him feel cherished.

Answer the following questions briefly :

- (a) What is the mistake all parents make according to the writer ? (1)
- (b) Why giving a label to the child is the biggest damage ? (1)
- (c) Which essential fact should always be remembered by the parents ? (1)
- (d) How can one boost the self esteem of a child ? (1)
- (d) What must the parents give their children ? (1)

(20 Marks)

1. Read the following passage carefully :

10

- (1) Many things happen in our life, but some incidents have such a great impact that they get hidden in our minds and become unforgettable. I have a memorable incident to narrate.
- (2) I was in class six and was among the good students. One day, I was not feeling well. My teacher permitted me to stay in class during assembly and told me to take care of her register and pen. When the whole class went out, I decided to complete the homework. But surprisingly, I had not brought my pencil box that day.
- (3) I saw my teacher's pen and decided to do work with it. I thought I would put the pen back on the table before the arrival of the class. Deciding that, I started working with the pen. But unfortunately, I forgot to put the pen back on the table. When the teacher entered the class and found her pen missing, she enquired about it from the whole class.
- (4) Then I realised that the pen was with me. But I had no courage to return the pen in front of the whole class. I thought that my classmates as well as my teacher would think of me as a thief. That was why, I kept quiet. The teacher got no response from the students. So she changed the topic and started teaching us. But throughout the period, I kept on cursing myself for my failure to speak up.
- (5) As the bell rang, I dashed out of the class and followed the teacher with her pen in my hand. I explained to her the reason for not giving her the pen back in front of the class and when I, promptly, returned the pen, tears flowed out of my eyes and I apologised to her.
- (6) My teacher put her hand on my shoulder and assured me. She said, "I know you are a good boy and I also knew that you had taken my pen. But I did not say anything because I wanted you to come to me and tell me everything."
- (7) You should have the courage to speak the truth. An innocent person should not feel guilty. If you have not committed any fault knowingly then you must be courageous enough to tell everything without any hesitation.

- (8) I stopped crying and gave a broad smile to my teacher. Even after several years, this incident is still fresh in my mind. I am really thankful to my teacher for teaching me such a lesson. This is bound to help me throughout my life.
- (9) A true man should never have a reason to bow his head before anyone. He is never concerned about what other people think about him.

1.1. Complete the following statements briefly -  $8 \times 1 = 8$

- (a) The teacher allowed the narrator to stay in the class during assembly because _____.

A LETTER TO GROWN UPS :

Dear Grown-Ups,
Please leave all the flowers there
And do not cut down the trees.
We need the trees to make fresh air
And flowers to feed the bees.
Please do not always use your car
To take you everywhere.
Because the fumes go very far
And heat the atmosphere.
Then soon the sun will be too hot
And all the plants will die.

So, please get out and walk a lot
 To see the clear blue sky.
 Then we will run and jump and play
 And grow up strong and tall
 Then we will be happy everyday
 And we will thank you all
 With love from the children.

GOOD HANDWRITING

- (1) Handwriting skills form a part of your body language. To a potential employer or a business manager, it gives him a fair idea of your abilities and integrity. It speaks of your confidence, decision making capabilities and smartness.
- (2) Handwriting analysis or graphology says that it's not your hand that is writing, it is your brain. And even when people lose their teeth, they still write the same way. Since everyone's handwriting, like DNA, is different, and because your loops and squiggles are the windows to your identity, graphology is even being used by companies to screen potential crooks and incompetent people. Handwriting analysis has many advantages. As a part of one's body language, handwriting analysis also throws light on whether one has found the right match or even can find out whether the job one is doing suits the candidate.
- (3) It is easier to improve bad writing skills at an early age when adaptation to newer techniques is much faster and the hand does get set. Improving writing skills is not a day's practice, but a continued process. So as a good smile, it is good handwriting that makes all the difference in getting your work done and becoming a successful person.

Answer the following questions briefly-

- |   |   |

1. Read the following passage carefully :

10

MEMORY OF FACES

I have a phenomenal memory for faces. There is no doubt of that. The only thing is that I can never remember the names that go with them. Why only the other day, I raised my hand to say hello to a distinguished looking man and I thought 'My Bank Manager _____ My broker?' I had to go and ask him. I am Rajesh, your next door neighbour. Mr. Sharma,' he said rattler acidly. It was due to this awful memory for names that something unpleasant befell me not too long ago.

It was a Friday evening and I was in the train on my way home. It was not my regular train, for I had been kept late at work and when we got to Anandnagar, a stop before mine, there were only two of us in the compartment. I am a Swaminagar man and I had definitely seen this fellow's face there. But his name completely eluded me. It was most irritating. Who the devil was he? I am not a difficult person, so I began to talk in a very chatty manner. He was somewhat uncommunicative and certainly gave nothing away. I was utterly stumped. I could see that he was rather worn out.

'Is this your regular train?' I asked hopefully. It usually works in my experience. "Not as a rule," he said. That was all, well that certainly told me a lot. Even my comments on weather had no effect. I thought what a frightful bore this fellow must be and in the end, I gave up. As we were coming to Swaminagar, he was snoozing. Now I am not a spiteful fellow, so I gave him a pat. "Swaminagar, old chap!." "Thanks" he said with a smile. Outside the station, it was pelting with rain and the wind was hard. It was freezing cold too. "Listen," I said to him. "Why don't I give you a lift home if you live on the new estate?" "I would appreciate that very much." he replied. I fetched my car from the parking lot and he got in with "Many thanks". He said no more till we were well across the moorland. Then, all of a sudden he turned to me and said Okay, pull up here."

"Here?" I queried. There was not a house in sight and the weather was shocking. Anyway I pulled up.

The only thing I could remember after that was something thumping down hard on my head. I passed out. When I came to, I found my head pounding, my car gone and my pockets empty. I stumbled into the police station to make a report. Here on the station wall was the picture of my assailant, I had walked past it for the last seven days.

I knew I had seen the face before. The police wanted him for armed robbery. I looked at the name underneath the face, the fact I will never forget. it was-er-it was-oh, brother! I can never remember names.

Wind, come softly.
Don't break the shutters of the windows.
Don't scatter the papers.
Don't throw down the books on the shelf.
There, look what you did - you threw them all down.
You tore the papers of the books.
You brought rain again.
You're very clever at poking fun at weaklings.
Trail crumbling houses,
Crumbling doors, crumbling rafters, crumbling wood.
Crumbling bodies, crumbling lives,
Crumbling hearts -
The wind God winnows and crushes them all.
He won't do what you tell him.
So, come, let's build strong homes,
Let's join the doors firmly.
Practise to firm the body.
Make the heart steadfast.
Do this, and the wind will be friends with us,
The wind blows out weak fires.
He makes strong fires soar and flourish
His friendship is good.
We praise him every day.

| 3. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :              | 5 |

It sometimes happens in our cities that someone is knocked down by a speeding and heartless driver who does not stop to pick up his victim and take him to a hospital. Passers by see the injured person lying on the road but hurry on to their factories and offices. Vital minutes pass before a kind person goes to his help and tries to get him to a hospital where he can be given prompt attention. This is a shocking example of how people refuse to accept responsibility for their fellowmen. Why are some of us so indifferent when we see the victim of an accident or someone who has fainted on the road?

It is not good enough if each of us remembers only his own rights : we must remember the rights of others as well. Until we do this, we cannot call ourselves civilized. My rights have to stop where my neighbour's rights begin. On the road I have no right to drive as I like because then I will be putting not just my life but also the lives of others in danger. Most accidents are caused by people who do not think of others or obey the rules of the road.

We cause a good deal of discomfort and suffering because we do not care to think of others. An example of such thoughtlessness is the way people use loudspeakers. It seems that one cannot celebrate without playing records over loudspeakers. A ceremony is not considered impressive unless loudspeakers blare out records from the early hours of the morning till late at night. The noise is deafening. At that volume the 'music' is nothing but torture to everyone within half a mile. People cannot work or sleep, students are unable to concentrate on their books while the sick and aged suffer hours of stress and anguish. Shrieking loudspeakers make our ceremonies and festivals vulgar and painful and are, in fact, quite unnecessary.

- |  |       |
|--|-------|

SECTION - A (READING)

(20 Marks)

1. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow : 10

- (a) If you want to leave foot prints on the sands of time, you must know how to live, suffer and die for your convictions. In one word, you should be fearless till death for the vindication of truth. All great and good men, whom the mass of humanity worship now, were fearless. They did not hand down fear to succeeding generations.
- (b) Jesus Christ was fearless, having a strong will power. The executors have been forgotten; the executed is still hailed and praised in songs after a thousand years. Gandhiji was fearless. He instilled the need of fearlessness in the minds of young and old.
- (c) Mentally dwarfed, spiritually bankrupt and intellectually empty men have lived and died like ants. Nobody notices them. But people who stand for a cause and are fearless in the midst of bullets and tortures are the salt of the earth. They always conquer. It is only when a man is willing to suffer and die for a cause that he will live eternally in the minds of men. Those who do not know how to live will die unwept, unsung and unhonoured. They come and go away without being noticed by others.

Fearlessness, however is not stoning the houses, burning the trains, looting the banks or killing the common man. The individual who thinks must convert the mob into a disciplined group of dedicated people who must chisel in their minds the words we live and we die as men!

- (d) Instill in everybody the seeds of courage, ambition and determination and then, with Tagore they will sing, "Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high .....".
- (e) Fear is the root of all evils, Change the mental attitude and life becomes pleasant.

- 1.1. After reading the above passage answer the following questions :- 6

- (a) What is common between all great men?
- (b) Name two great men who are still remembered for their fearlessness.
- (c) What are intellectually empty men compared to?

WHY ?

I know a curious little boy.
 He's always asking Why;
 Why this, why that, why then, why now,
 Why not, why, why, why, why?
 He wants to know why wood should float,
 When lead and marbles sink?
 When stars should shine and winds should blow,
 And why we eat and drink?
 He wants to know why fish have gills,
 And why we cannot fly?
 Why stream comes from the kettle spout,
 And rain falls from the sky?
 Some of his whys are not too hard
 To answer, if you'll try;
 But others - no one ever yet
 Has found the reason why.

Fill in the blanks with one suitable word :

The poet introduces us to a very (a) _____ little boy who is always asking (b) _____. He wants to know why this, why that, why then, why now, why not. 3. Read the following passage 5

HAVE A GOOD LAUGH!

Experts often refer to exercise, a balanced diet and plenty of rest as the three essential factors for good health in the stressful society in which we live. According to leading doctors, laughter is also extremely important to our general well being. When we laugh, energy is pumped around the body and it perks up the whole system. Our stress levels are reduced, which means laughter has a calming effect on us.

More importantly, perhaps, is the fact that laughter releases chemicals into the body. These chemicals are natural pain suppressants and they affect the immune system, helping to speed up healing processes and activating hormones which kill disease cells. In fact, in 1991, the first free Laughter Clinic was set up in Britain so that patients could have fun, which would help them to get better more quickly.

According to one doctor, laughter is a total body experience in which all the major systems of the body, such as muscles, nerves, heart, brain and digestion, participate fully, so laughter is almost equivalent to a form of exercise. However, it is important to bear in mind that we are talking about laughter as opposed to just a smile, in other words, "a belly laugh" says Howard Kent of the Yoga for Health Association.

So how are we to fill our lives with merriment? Every happy home should have a laughter library of joke books, classic cartoon books, collections of humorous quotations and audio cassettes of our favourite comedians, comedy videos, fun board games, comic plays, novels and amusing biographies.

SECTION - A (READING)

(20 Marks)

1. Read the following passage carefully :

10

All of us have seen the inside of a hospital sometime or the other. Hospitals have a special smell of their own and seem very busy all the time. But how did the idea of setting up a special place for sick people ever come about? The ancient Greeks used the temples of their gods of healing as resting places for the sick. So too did the Egyptians, the Babylonians and the ancient Indians. The Romans especially, began to realize the need for hospitals. They were always at wars, and their soldiers needed care and treatment. The idea of hospitals caught on and slowly they passed into the charge of the Church. By the 4th century, Church hospitals had begun. Centuries passed. By the 17th century, public hospitals were founded in Britain by rich citizens who wished to serve the public. The hospitals, as we see today, began to evolve only around the 19th century. People began to live in better conditions. They felt the need for more cleanliness and better expert care. In the past, nuns and other members of the church used to do the nursing. It was Florence Nightingale who began to feel the need for trained nurses to care for the sick. She started the St. Thomas Hospital in England. This was the first training college for nurses ever. Today, any hospital is a vast, complete organization. There are doctors, nurses and other staff like receptionists, records staff, hospital managers etc. Big hospitals could have porters, orderlies, electricians, carpenters, plumbers, security staff --- whew! Doesn't that sound like a small town in itself?

- 1.1. Answer the following questions on the basis of your reading of the above passage :

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| (a) In the past nursing was done by _____.  | 1 |

WHENEVER

When you are depressed,
With confidence compressed.
When success is nowhere to be seen,
Nowhere to be heard,
Nowhere to be felt
And failure is all you have.
Then too
Don't ever lose
Hold on to courage
And strength's unbreakable rope.
Bring in the light
Of hard work and determination.
The darkness will vanish by itself.
Due to the glare of your concentration.
Wrap and bury, all your worries
In a roll.
Follow your milestones
To your goal.
Think like a man of action
Act like a man of thought
Don't ever panic
When you get caught
In the whirlpool of difficulties
Trust your abilities
Gather your wits
And be a winner.

Feathered Watchman.

Black Drongo is a very common breeding bird of Haryana, found in open areas, wetland and near cultivation. This is a glossy black bird with a long deeply forked tail. These birds are quite agile in flight. Drongos are renowned for their courage. A drongo will never allow any bird that eats eggs or hatchlings, to come near its nest. It fearlessly attacks birds bigger than itself, such as crows, hawks and even eagles if they dare come into its territory. Less aggressive birds like the oriole feel safe if they have a drongo as a neighbour. So one can often find an oriole's nest in close proximity to that of a drongo's. In some parts of India the black drongo is known as Kotwal, watchman for this reason. One specie, the racket tailed drongo, has two spatula shaped streamers in its tail. It is larger than the black drongo and has a prominent tuft of feathers on its forehead, swept back Elvis Presley style.

The racket tailed drongo has a melodious voice and is an excellent mimic. The drongos feed on insects and flower nectar.

On the basis of your reading of the above passage answer the following : 1×5=5

- (a) Black drongo is a common breeding bird of _____.

SECTION - A (READING)

(20 Marks)

1. Read the following passage carefully :

10 Marks

1. As the dreaded examinations crawl to a halt, students look forward to the much awaited "creative outlets", the summer camps, to let off steam and spend their holidays. A summer camp is conducted over a short period of four to five weeks involving interesting and fun-filled activities. The colourful spectrum of summer camps provides a wide variety of activities which include artistic skills, such as painting, origami, art, music, craft, and also spoken English, cookery and computer courses. Not only this, the summer camps keep the child "fit as a fiddle" by imparting lessons in yoga, cricket, tennis and swimming.
2. With changing times and trends parents have become productivity oriented. They want their children to learn through productive play unlike in the past when play was just play. Today, the parents want to tap the potential of their children to the fullest. To achieve this aim, the summer camps afford an ideal opening for children to develop their hobbies and talents. The importance of creative play is often underestimated whereas the fact is that art and craft projects can excite even a young child's imagination and promote a sense of great achievement. The little things that children make and take home give them a sense of achievement and pride when they show them to their parents.
3. Summer camps develop a child's confidence and his ideas. They also encourage children to do things on their own. The camps are beneficial for hyper-active and aggressive children as they help to channel their energies fruitfully by drawing out the best in them. They also promote mutual understanding among teachers and children. This provides a good experience for a better future - a future of confidence.

3. Read the following passage carefully : 5

Nainital is glorious hill station for tourism in Uttaranchal. It is 336 kms from Delhi which was discovered by Lord Barron, a Britisher in 1841. It is surrounded by mountains on three sides. The first one is Naina (2615 metres) the second is Deopatha (2438 metres) and the third is Ayarpatha (2278 metres). Naina is the highest mountain among the three.

From the sea-level, Nainital hill station is located at a height of 6,350 feet. In winter Nainital has freezing cold temperature falling below zero degrees centigrade. Every year during December to February Nainital hill station gets its annual snowfall. Summer season is also very cold in Nainital. The highest temperature is not more than 26 degree centigrade. So most tourist prefer to come at summer season to explore Nainital.

Nainital is named after its beautiful lake Naini and is the base for tourism here. This lake is called Naini because it appears as if it is eye shaped. This lake is famous among the visitors, tourist and nature lovers for yachting and boating.

The southern end area of the lake is called Tallital and the northern and area is called Mallital. Both the areas have pretty cottages, luxurious hotels, villas, restaurants, food zones, shopping centres, game parlours and luxury shops.

Naina peak, which is also known as Cheena Peak is the most favourite picnic spot of Nainital. It's height is 2612 metres. It is 6 km far from Nainital. We can easily view the snow garbed Himalayas, Nainital city and its surrounding localities. Naina Devi Temple is situated on the northern shore of Naini lake. The presiding Goddess of this temple is "Maa Naina Devi".

Answer the following questions by choosing the correct option from the options given below :

- (a) Naina is the highest among the three mountains that surround Nainital from three sides. The height of this mountain is
  - (i) 2438 metres
  - (ii) 2615 metres

SECTION - A (READING)

(20 Marks)

1. Read the passage given below carefully :

10 Marks

1. Laughter, they say, is the best medicine : And now, with due respect to the apple, one can add TV to the list of ways to keep the doctor away. According to a study conducted by Sophia Moskalenko of the University of Pennsylvania and Steven Heine of the University of British Columbia, watching TV is good for one's self-esteem.
2. "People often watch TV to block out feelings of inadequacy", explains Moskalenko, "When the gap between expectations and reality is wide, that is when most problems start, TV appears to be an effective means of reducing awareness of how we are falling short of our own standards". In other words, if entertainment manages to divert the thoughts of a tense mind, psychological problems can be nipped in the bud. And this theory seems to work.
3. Or, at least it has proved effective in the case of Gayatri Nayak, an ad executive. "A daily dose of TV helps keep my stress levels down", maintains Gayatri, "even if I watch TV for an hour, it blocks out thoughts of dealing with clients, meeting deadlines, and all that comes with the job". Adds Amit Goyal, a class XII student preparing for the engineering entrance exams. "I watch my favourite sitcom every day to keep my anxiety levels in check".
4. Says psychiatrist Gaurav Gupta, MD, "Indulging in one's favourite activity, no matter how short the duration, distracts the mind and enables it to look at routine problems with a different perspective".
5. While the exact role of TV as a stress-buster is not known, there is reason to believe that the solutions provided by scriptwriters to the problems of tele-serial characters act as a tonic for certain people. Software professional Nita Malhotra, for instance, felt betrayed by the roving eye of her husband Mohit. But after seeing a similar problem in a TV serial, she claims to feel 'less anxious' than before.
6. "TV makes for a surreal world in which the problems of the characters in serials are not so daunting as to debilitate them from being able to function", explains psychiatrist Neena Kapoor, MD. "One fallout of this situation is that the viewer is influenced by how his favourite actor or actress in a serial reacts." So, the next time the blues make you feel low, maybe it's time to reach for the remote.

It crept forward,
A spark at first.
Growing into a flame
Then brightening into a blaze
It crept forward.
Like a panther, stealthily stalking his prey slowly now, then leaping like a beast gone mad.
Leaping and being doused with water.
Still, relentlessly, on and on it went
Tearing through, with lightning speed.
It spread.
Its petals fanned out, yellow and orange and red.
The greedy rage-flower.
Advancing its tendrils announcing their arrival
With a crackle, a hiss, a sizzle and spit.
Tearing along with binding fury.
Destroying everything in its path
Hurrying through.
Feeding on dried up wood and brittle screams.
Fire!
